

Do You Believe in Life After Loss?

Queer Stories of Loss, Hope and Resilience

Andrew Flewitt

Jessica Kingsley Publishers, 21st May 2025

Trade paperback £14.99

ISBN: 9781805017707

An exploration of loss, in all its forms, as experienced by the LGBTQIA+ community

“Engaging, gripping and ultimately uplifting” MATT CAIN MBE, author of The Secret Life of Albert Entwistle

This collection of queer experiences of loss, hope and resilience explores different aspects of loss, the challenges of these situations, but also how queerness might help people to navigate change and loss and the opportunities and hope that can arise when healing begins.

Exploring experiences of loss in all its forms - from bereavement and relationship breakups to loss of community, safety and identity - the book considers how queerness might help people to navigate change and loss and asks the question: do you believe in life after loss?

Curated by Andrew Flewitt and with contributions from psychotherapist Silva Neves throughout, the book features interviews with:

Nathaniel J. Hall - Zachary Tucker - Euan - Jamie Windust - Juno Roche - Vaneet Mehta - Luciana Cousin - Mendez - Theo Parsonson

Andrew Flewitt is the host of Queer I Am the podcast. Andrew has featured in Podbible, DIVA, BBC Radio Sussex, Scene, GX Magazine.

Andrew is based in Brighton and is available for features, interviews and events from April 2025.

For press enquiries please contact: Harry Taylor - harry.taylor@jkp.com